National Nonprofit Day

On August 17, National

Nonprofit Day (NND) reminds us what is possible because of the nonprofit sector and the work performed by capable men, women and organizations.

NND recognizes more than nonprofits' primary altruistic goals (awareness, research and aid); it also acknowledges the added positive impacts they have on communities and the world.

Take some time to learn more about nonprofits. Understanding that the funding often satisfies more than the mission statement will help us see the benefits of supporting nonprofit organizations.
